SAFETY CONCERN COULD PROVOKE CROSSING U-TURN

Final journey for Duke of Marlborough

THE funeral of the Duke of Marlborough took place in Woodstock last Friday, with hundreds gathering to pay their final respects. John George Vanderbilt Henry Spencer-Churchill died aged 88 on October 16, and has been buried at Blenheim Palace's crypt.

• See page 6 for full story

TEN members of Oxfordshire County Council have called for a decision to approve the relocation of a pelican crossing on Marcham Road in Abingdon to go before the council's scrutiny committee on Monday, with the hope of it being overturned.

The councillors, which include Abingdon's three representatives Neil Fawcett, Sandy Lovatt and Alison Rooke, have called in David Nimmo Smith's decision for the crossing made on October 9.

Cllr Nimmo Smith supported proposals to move the existing crossing in Marcham Road further down the street, and to install a new crossing on Ock Street.

Councillors and residents at the October 9 meeting had raised concerns that the proposals would lead to increased danger for schoolchildren, who may not walk the extra distance to use the moved crossing.

Reasons given by the 10 councillors to call in the decision include that Cllr Nimmo Smith visited the site on a Saturday prior to the meeting, which they claim

By Adam Flinn

was inappropriate for arguments based on the safety of schoolchildren.

They also added that the decision wasn't based on Department of Transport guidance into the assessment of crossing sites, and the impact of changes on the wider local traffic network was not considered.

Why shoppers love to splash the cash at Christmas time

RESEARCHERS at Oxford University say shoppers are persuaded to spend more at Christmas because of clever promotional campaigns.

Experts at the Saïd Business School, in Park End Street, have co-authored a research paper called the Journal of Consumer Psychology looking at the behavior of shoppers.

Boffins say marketing initiatives are all about matching the mindset of customers, achieving a 'fit'.

And the research suggests that at Christmas, retailers do not need to offer price promotions or discounts as they can undermine the celebratory mindset of shoppers.

Instead they can focus on the exclusivity and uniqueness of products.

Prof Nancy Puccinelli, one of the authors of the paper, said: "Some seasonal campaigns have almost instinctively understood this connection."

By Jack Johnson
jack@taylornewspapers.co.uk

"At Christmas, when messages are about promoting indulgence, consumers who want to maximise pleasure are more open to the idea of switching to premium brands and to spending more to get the most out of their purchases."

The Journal says that if shops send out the right message to consumers they can increase their chances of completing a purchase by 186 per cent.

She continued: "Our research suggests that advertisers can create the desirable orientation within just one advert."

"Put simply, an appreciation of the importance of 'fit' for consumer decision-making means that small, typically low-cost changes to messaging, packaging and communications can have a profound impact on consumer choice."

• Oxford University experts say shoppers like to spend more at Christmas because of their celebratory mindset

The research says the mindset of shoppers can be divided into two groups – those avoiding risk and opportunity seekers.

It says 'Back to School' campaigns are related to avoiding the risk of children not being ready for lessons and day-to-day school life.

Prof Puccinelli added: "We often see brands communicating in ineffective or even counter-productive ways, whereas sometimes small inexpensive changes to campaigns which take into account the importance of fit have very positive results."

A day of poetry honours ex-pupil killed in Afghanistan

• Students at Cothill House take part in the read-a-thon

A SCHOOL near Abingdon has raised £1,000 in memory of a former pupil who died serving in Afghanistan five years ago.

Pupils at Cothill House school staged a 24-hour poetry read-a-thon earlier this month to raise money in tribute of Lieutenant Colonel Rupert Thorneloe, who was killed in Helmand Province in 2009.

The school holds a poetry reading each year in memory of Lt Colonel Thorneloe, who was a pupil at Cothill House from 1978 to 1983.

But staff and students decided to take the competition a step further this year, beginning their poetry readings at 9am on October 2 until the following morning.

Money raised will be donated to The Afghan Connection, a charity which is building schools in the country.

Duncan Bailey, headmaster at Cothill House, said: "I am incredibly proud of our staff and students who took part in the read-a-thon."

"It was a brilliant way to remember the heroic efforts of our former pupil, who was an excellent ambassador of the school and county."

"At Cothill House, we have always believed people should be courageous and take on ambitious projects."

He continued: "Lt Colonel Thorneloe embodied this spirit – his bravery is something our students can all aspire to."

Bridge closure

CULHAM: Sutton Bridge, the road going over the River Thames that links Culham with Sutton Courtenay, is set to close for seven working days from November 13 for repairs.

Oxfordshire County Council is closing the road so that repairs can be made to the footway south of the bridge.

Exemptions will be made for access to property on the road, emergency services, and for works traffic.

The bridge is expected to be closed for a week until Friday, November 21.

Boy attacked

OXFORD: A 15-year-boy was seriously injured after he was attacked while waiting at a bus stop in New Road in the early hours of Sunday morning.

At around 1.30am, the boy was involved in an argument with two men and a woman, during which he was hit and kicked in the head while on the floor.

He sustained a fracture to his eye socket and was taken to the John Radcliffe Hospital, where he has since been discharged.

Investigating officer Detective Constable Emma Thompson said: "This was a really nasty attack on a young boy and I am appealing to anyone who may have seen anything to get in touch."

Anyone with information is asked to contact Det Con Thompson on 101.

Homes plan

DIDCOT: Several hundred new homes at Great Western Park were set to be given the green light as the Oxfordshire Guardian went to print last night.

The estate is earmarked for 3,300 homes and a further 247 were put in front of South Oxfordshire District Council's planning committee yesterday.

However, Didcot Town Council and Harwell Parish Council have objected to the plans due to concerns over the sewerage system, an archeological trail and parking provision.

So far 1,357 of the homes have been approved for the site with 750 occupied.

Crackdown on illegal tobacco in county

AROUND 1,500 illegal cigarettes have been seized from businesses in Oxford and Banbury as part of a crackdown by Oxfordshire County Council's Trading Standards team.

It comes as part of Operation Henry, a nine-region investigation on the supply of illegal tobacco which has already seen 5,300 cigarettes seized from five businesses in Cowley.

And Trading Standards are appealing for anyone with information about the sale or storage of illegal tobacco to come forward.

Jody Kerman of Oxfordshire Trading Standards said: "We are always keen to hear from people with intelligence about potentially illegal tobacco."

"Products such as these are known to bring low-level and organised crime into communities."

"It also creates unfair competition between local businesses by selling tobacco more cheaply than the going market rate, which could put local jobs and business at risk."

Rodney Rose, deputy leader of the county council, said: "It is encouraging to see that our Trading Standards team is taking steps to deal with sellers of potentially illicit tobacco."

"Those who knowingly trade illegal cigarettes damage local communities as they put jobs and law-abiding businesses at risk by selling cheap products."

Crossing approval called in for scrutiny

Cllr Fawcett, who initiated the decision going before the scrutiny committee, said: "I feel very strongly that it was the wrong decision and that it was made badly."

"For me the idea that you would go and have a look at a crossing where the main point of contention is schoolchildren's safety on a Saturday is just ludicrous."

He added: "Basically at that committee meeting on Monday we will be hoping to persuade the members that the decision has been made wrongly."

"If the scrutiny committee agrees and it goes back to the cabinet, the cabinet can then change the decision."

As well as the safety aspect, there were also concerns about the impact the crossings could have on traffic congestion.

Speaking about the decision, Cllr Lovatt said: "In my opinion it's not a viable option."

"It's only a measure to relieve Drayton Road's congestion, but it causes more problems in Abingdon."

"I think it adds to the congestion in the town, and since we previously spent £5.6million to take the traffic out of the town centre to improve the air quality, it's a bit daft to cause more backlog again."

Cllr Nimmo Smith said: "They're entitled to call it in, and because of the local feeling at the meeting, I'm not surprised that it has."

"This is something that came before me in March, and I actually made a point of going there in the morning [at the time] so I knew what it was like with what the schools were doing."

Hare coursing

MARCHAM: Three men have been arrested on suspicion of hare coursing in Marcham, near Abingdon, after an incident on October 22.

At 11.14pm, police officers arrested two men aged 35 and 31 from Abingdon and a 34-year-old man from Sunningwell, while their vehicle and dogs were seized.

The men have been bailed until November 28.

Courier fraud

ABINGDON: Residents are being warned of courier fraud scams after three people received suspicious phone calls from a man posing as a police officer.

Between 11pm and midnight on October 22, a man told the victims that he was a police officer in Holborn, London, and that he had arrested someone who had their credit cards.

In all three cases, the victims hung up the phone but police are reminding people that they will never ask for people's card pins or details.

Police are urging residents to, if they receive such a call, ask for their shoulder number, hang up and call 101 from a different phone.

Scooter stolen

ABINGDON: A mobility scooter was stolen from a garden in Abingdon last week.

The blue scooter was taken sometime between October 22 and 23 from outside a house in Kensington Close, before it was found dumped and damaged in a brook near Overmead.

Anyone with information with regard to the incident should call police on 101.

English Heritage turns down Old Abbey House

AN APPLICATION to make Old Abbey House a listed building has been turned down by English Heritage.

The Friends of Abingdon Civic Society had made the application earlier this year, but after making a visit in July English Heritage has decided that the building isn't suitable for listed status.

It ruled that the numerous alterations that had been made to Old Abbey House over the years, "undermined the architectural integrity of the building".

It was designated as an asset of community value by Vale of White Horse District Council back in the summer, giving the community six months to submit an offer to take on the site before it is put on the market.

Fire fighter strikes over bonfire weekend

OXFORDSHIRE fire fighters are holding their longest fire strike yet during bonfire and firework weekend.

The latest Fire Brigades Union (FBU) strike will start at 6pm tomorrow, October 31, and end at 6pm on Tuesday, November 4.

Staff are striking over a national dispute between the union and central government over pension reforms.

It is the longest fire strike so far and coincides with many bonfire night celebrations taking place across Oxfordshire on Saturday and Sunday, including the fireworks display at South Park, Oxford.

However, the county's chief fire officer Dave Etheridge says every 999 call will be responded to and cover will be provided for those on strike.

Mr Etheridge said: "I want to reassure the county's public that every emergency call made to the Fire and Rescue Service during the latest scheduled national strike periods will be

By Jack Johnson

jack@taylornewspapers.co.uk

responded to.

"We have a cover plan in place which we have utilised well during previous strikes."

He added: "There is an agreement with the FBU locally that striking fire fighters will return to work if an incident occurred which required a significant amount of them to attend."

Mr Etheridge also urged residents in Oxfordshire to check that their smoke alarms work, electrical sockets were not overloaded and their vehicles were road safe in an effort to reduce call outs during the strike period.

Oxfordshire County Council is responsible for the fire service and deputy leader Rodney Rose said there was little that can be done locally to resolve the strike action.

He said: "This national strike is the result of an ongoing dispute between the FBU and central government and locally there is little we can do to help resolve things.

"We do in Oxfordshire have robust contingency plans in place that have worked successfully to cover previous strikes and we will continue to use these arrangements to cover the latest scheduled period of industrial action."

• Fire fighters are on strike from tomorrow, October 31, to Tuesday, November 4

Pumpkin the kitten abandoned in Witney needs loving home

A FIVE-WEEK-OLD kitten found abandoned on an industrial estate in Witney is looking for a new home after being rescued by Burford pet charity Blue Cross.

Pumpkin the kitten was discovered wandering around by herself with her family nowhere in sight.

She was rescued and taken to the charity's Burford site, where she will receive round-the-clock care until being ready for rehoming at around nine-weeks-old.

Hannah Wiltshire, rehoming supervisor at Blue Cross, said: "Pumpkin was a bit skinny when she came into us, but was otherwise in good condition.

"We gave her a meal, a warm bed and lots of tender loving care, and she's doing really well."

"We always try to get kittens out into foster homes as it is a much better environment for them to grow up in."

"If anyone thinks they can help, we'd love to hear from them."

Anyone interested in rehoming Pumpkin or becoming a volunteer fosterer for Blue Cross can contact the charity on 0300 777 1570 or by visiting bluecross.org.uk.

Case delayed

WALLINGFORD: A court case of a Wallingford boarding school teacher charged with child sex offences was adjourned on Friday.

Trevor Bolton was due to enter a plea at Oxford Crown Court, but the hearing was deferred until December 5.

Bolton was working at the now closed Carmel College at Mongewell Park when the offences allegedly occurred.

The 77-year-old, who now lives in Kestrel Way, Clacton-on-Sea, Essex, faces four counts of indecency with a child and five counts of indecent assault on a male between 1968 and 1988.

A trial date was earmarked for April 27.

Prisoner escape

OXON: A criminal is still on the loose after escaping Spring Hill Prison near Bicester last Sunday afternoon.

Kenneth Simmonds and Lewis Hoare walked out of prison at about 1pm on October 26.

Hoare, 27, handed himself into British Transport Police at South Ruislip Station, London, at 11pm on Monday, October 27.

Simmonds, 43, is still on the run and is described as medium build, with short brown hair and with a tattoo of a panther on his left forearm.

Anyone with information is asked to call police on 101.

Blenheim duke buried at palace

By Jack Johnson

jack@taylornewspapers.co.uk

HUNDREDS gathered outside St Mary Magdalene church in Woodstock on Friday to pay their respects to the 11th Duke of Marlborough on the day of his funeral.

John George Vanderbilt Henry Spencer-Churchill, cousin of Winston Churchill, died peacefully aged 88 on October 16.

People of all ages watched on as the duke's coffin was taken to the church from Blenheim Palace in a glass-sided black carriage pulled by two horses.

The 300 seats in the church were all full and the hundreds outside listened to the service through loudspeakers.

Trevor Harvey, 72, from Woodstock, said attending the funeral was a "once in a lifetime experience" and a "historic moment" for the town.

Roy Pugh, 60, from Bladon, added: "We're not likely to see another duke off and I think he did a very good job at Blenheim - I enjoy using the park."

Sally-Ann Rogers, 43, from Woodstock said: "It is like being part of history. It is a very historic town and something I can share with my son."

The duke's family and friends, including his eldest son James who will succeed him as the 12th duke, followed the carriage as remembering a man that was head and shoulders above his contemporaries.

"The duke has modernised the operation of the palace and really brought a good level of economic activity into the community."

His children Lady Alexandra, Lord Edward, Lady Henrietta and Lord James, the 12th duke, all gave readings.

Reverend Canon Adrian Daffern, the duke's chaplain, who led the service, said: "Our friendship was brought about by circumstance - in my case appointment, in his case birth."

• The 11th Duke of Marlborough

He was born on April 13, 1926, and inherited the dukedom in 1972 when his dad John Albert William Spencer-Churchill died.

The duke introduced the Pleasure Gardens, including a railway, maze and butterfly house, and also set up the Churchill Exhibition at Blenheim Palace.

Flags at Woodstock Town Hall, Blenheim Palace and the church were flown at half-mast.

New home for iconic Constable painting

RENOWNED 18th and 19th century painter John Constable's work 'Willy Lott's House from the Stour' has a new home, at Oxford's Ashmolean Museum.

The Beaumont Street museum announced it acquired the painting on Tuesday.

It is the first finished piece by Constable to be entered into the Ashmolean's collection, believed to have been painted between 1816 and 1818.

The painting was acquired by the Ashmolean through an 'Acceptance in Lieu' scheme, meaning it was given to the museum by Arts Council England to settle the original owner's inheritance tax bill of more than £1million.

Dr Alexander Sturgis, director of the Ashmolean, said: "It is a huge honour to receive this beautiful painting – the first finished work by Constable to come to the Ashmolean – in my first month as director."

"The museum is profoundly grateful to Arts Council England for its support."

"The painting is on display in the 19th Century Gallery where it can now be enjoyed by thousands of visitors in perpetuity."

Sir Peter Bazalgette, chair of Arts Council England, added:

By Adam Flinn

adam@taylornewspapers.co.uk

"This gorgeous oil painting, a different view of the famous Haywain, is a wonderful addition to the Ashmolean and joins its existing collection of Constable oil sketches."

"The Acceptance in Lieu scheme has once again delivered a really important acquisition for the nation."

The farmhouse in the picture appeared in Constable's work from 1802, with it being included in 'The Valley Farm' and seen from another angle in 'The Hay Wain'.

Willy Lott is understood to have lived in the house for more than 80 years, only spending four days away from it and being there at the time of Constable's birth in 1776 and his death in 1837.

It represented a continuity of tradition and farming that Constable admired, which is why it featured in several of his pieces.

The painting was formerly owned by Jonathan Peel, younger brother of former prime minister Sir Robert Peel, and has previously appeared in the National Gallery and New York Public Library.

Cyclists fined

OXFORD: Police issued 267 cyclists in High Street and Abingdon Road with £50 fines after they were caught riding without lights between 6pm and 9pm on Monday.

It was part of a police cycle lights campaign after clocks went back the day before.

Cyclists caught have the option of buying a set of front and rear lights and showing the receipt at any police station within seven days to avoid paying the fine.

Road safety constable Mark Pilling said: "This is aimed at educating cyclists about how important it is that they are fully visible to road users."

"We stopped a significant amount of cyclists so I would encourage others to get lights for their safety and to avoid any fines."

Big clean up

BICESTER: Rubbish amounting to the weight of a killer whale has been removed from the streets of Southwold in Bicester, Cherwell District Council announced.

Five officers from the council spent a total of 30 hours clearing more than eight and a half tons of rubbish from streets, verges and green spaces in the area.

Households also took advantage of a free waste collection service to get rid of 660kg of unwanted furniture from their homes.

The district council's lead member for clean and green Tony Iltott said: "It never ceases to amaze me just how much rubbish can be strewn across one area at any time."

Return of Post Office to Horspath

POST Office services are to return to Horspath for the first time since the former branch in the village closed more than three years ago.

A hosted outreach service will come to the village every Friday to the Horspath Hub in the Old Chapel, roughly 100 metres from the site of the old branch.

The old branch closed in September 2011, which the Post Office put down to circumstances beyond their control and the withdrawal of premises for their use.

The new service will see the subpostmaster from Great Milton Post Office come to the village between 10am and 1pm each Friday.

Graham Simmons, Post Office field change advisor, said: "We understand how important having a Post Office is to residents in Horspath."

"We are confident the hosted outreach service will meet the needs of the local community and secure services for the future."

"This is part of a major investment programme, the largest in the history of the Post Office, and marks a commitment to no more branch closure programmes."

HGV driver is jailed for M40 death crash

A LORRY driver who crashed into a broken down car on the M40 between Bicester and Oxford, killing a female passenger, was sentenced to four and a half years in prison last week.

Jose De Sousa, of Uxbridge Road in Feltham, West London, was sentenced at Oxford Crown Court on October 22 after pleading guilty to causing death by dangerous driving.

The collision took place on March 28 last year at around 2.30am, when De Sousa was driving a HGV between junctions 9 and 8A on the M40.

He crashed into stationary white Peugeot 407, which had broken down in the first lane, instantly killing 35-year-old Ausra Budreckaite, who was in the front seat of the car.

An investigation by police concluded De Sousa was tired or distracted at the time of the crash.

He was charged on October 16 last year and pleaded guilty at court last Tuesday during the trial, after the opening speeches but before witness evidence was heard.

De Sousa was also disqualified from driving for 10 years.

By Adam Flinn

adam@taylornewspapers.co.uk

Investigating officer Detective Sergeant Kerry Clarke said: "This sentence sends a clear message to those who choose to gamble with the lives of others by driving whilst unfit to do so through tiredness, or any other reason."

"De Sousa's decision to drive his heavy goods vehicle whilst unfit to do so resulted in the death of another person."

"Thames Valley Police will continue to investigate the actions of those who cause death on the roads in our region, and press for the heaviest penalties against those who are convicted of such crimes."

"We are thrilled that the team at Stagecoach have shown such enthusiasm in supporting us by signing up as part of their partnership with us," said Aimie Edwards, corporate partnerships manager at Helen & Douglas House.

"This year we are expecting more teams than ever to get into the festive spirit and run together in aid of Helen & Douglas House, whether they are from local companies, schools, churches, or friends and family."

Flat fire rescue

ABINGDON: Fire fighters rescued a woman from a flat in Abingdon on Saturday morning after being called by a neighbour who could hear the smoke alarm.

Crews were called at 5.32am to a flat in Banbury Court, on Vineyard, after a resident in the flat above heard the alarm going off.

When fire fighters arrived, the neighbour told them she thought someone might still be in the flat.

They then forced entry inside using a sledgehammer and found the flat full of smoke, before they were able to rescue the woman inside.

The fire is believed to have been caused by cooking having been left unattended.

Watch manager Kevin Kerry said: "This fire highlights the importance of having working smoke alarms in your property, and shows the dangers of leaving cooking unattended."

Didcot B fire 'has not cut spare energy capacity'

BOSSSES at Didcot B Power Station have denied that the fire, which knocked out half of its supply to the National Grid, has affected energy levels over the winter.

One of the station's cooling towers caught fire on October 19 and a blaze tore through a further three.

Early investigations have suggested a cooling fan failure was to blame.

Technicians are still working to bring the plant back up to full capacity.

Didcot B has been running at half of its capacity since the fire, and as of yesterday part of the unit that was affected by the fire was brought back online.

Other power stations have

By Jack Johnson

jack@taylornewspapers.co.uk

been reportedly picking up the slack since the fire and the National Grid's winter outlook figures, released on Tuesday, have revealed a spare capacity of 4.1 per cent.

This is a decrease of 0.9 per cent from last year's estimate but the National Grid say the fire at Didcot B had no impact, while additional reserves could see capacity go up to 6.1 per cent.

Spokesperson Rebecca Watson said: "We were able to absorb any impact it might have had through generation elsewhere."

"We always factor into what we

"We build in that reserve element every day. We already take this into account."

Cordi O'Hara, director of market operation at the National Grid, added: "The electricity margin has decreased compared to recent years, but the outlook remains manageable."

RWE npower operate Didcot B and spokesperson Kelly Brown said there is always a "buffer zone" should there be any incidents like the fire earlier this month.

She added: "All power stations feed into the National Grid and it is their job to balance the capacity across the UK."

"There is always a buffer zone should a big power station trip or fall offline."

Pupils learn spooktacular ways to reuse pumpkins

PUPILS at two Oxford schools tried their hand at carving and cooking pumpkins for Halloween tomorrow night.

Children at Windmill Primary (below), in Margaret Road, and Larkrise Primary, in Boundary Brook Road, shaped spooky faces and reused leftover pulp and seeds.

They made pumpkin scones, roast pumpkin seeds and jewellery out of leftovers.

Windmill headteacher Lynn Knapp said: "Carving pumpkins is a great way to teach children this important message about food waste as it's so practical and engaging."

Charities Groundwork South

and Hubub ran the day as part of its Oxfordshire Green Schools project, funded by the county council.

Hubub say two-thirds of people throw their pumpkins away once Halloween is over.

Trewin Restorick, CEO of Hubub, added: "It is a great way to teach children about important food waste issues, while having fun and getting into the Halloween spirit."

Network group Good Food Oxford and Hubub are also launching the Oxford Pumpkin Festival today at Oxford Town Hall in St Aldate's.

It will run at various sites in the city until November 9.

A winter warning

CARERS are urging Oxfordshire's elderly to stay warm ahead of the looming cold snap after figures reveal the county's excess winter deaths.

Wallingford-based home care provider Bluebird Care have launched a campaign calling for people to heat bedrooms to 18°C.

According to the Office of National Statistics, there were 330 excess winter deaths in Oxfordshire because of extreme weather over winter 2012 to 2013.

More detailed figures for 2011 to 2012 revealed that South Oxfordshire had the highest excess winter deaths in the county with 100.

Oxford and West Oxfordshire both had 60, while Vale of White Horse had 50.

The results, calculated by subtracting the amount of average non-winter deaths from winter deaths, sparked the warning.

Bluebird director Robert Mezo said: "We love to talk about the weather in this country, but we are often unaware of the real threat to life that our winters can cause for older and vulnerable people."

"After a long warm summer we must not be complacent."

"We're urging everyone to think warmth this winter and to help to prevent the thousands of needless cold weather deaths each year."

County above UK average for GCSEs

By Adam Flinn

adam@taylornewspapers.co.uk

MORE than 58 per cent of students in Oxfordshire achieved five GCSEs graded A* to C including English and Maths this year - two per cent above the national average.

Oxfordshire County Council published the county's GCSE figures last Thursday, with 58.6 per cent of students from state-funded schools getting the grades, compared to the national average of 56.1 per cent.

Students in the county also made better than average progress in English and Maths, with Oxfordshire now in the top 25 per cent of local authority areas for the latter.

Melinda Tilley, the county council's cabinet member for schools, said: "We have long said that we wanted Oxfordshire to be ahead of national averages and it is a delight to be able to say that in 2014 we have achieved that."

"What we must now guard against is complacency - these results will mean little if next year we are back in line with the national average or below it.

• Sam Barson and Connor Puffett, both 16, from King Alfred's Academy in Wantage, after collecting their results back in August

"The aim must be for our schools to get ever better and extend the gap between Oxfordshire and the rest of the county."

This was the first year that schools are judged based on students' first results, rather than after resits, which had been the case in the past.

Under the old measure, 60.6 per cent of students in Oxfordshire gained five A* to C grades including English and Maths, with the national average being 60.8 per cent.

Cllr Tilley added: "The new measure shows that Oxfordshire schools are better than the national average in delivering good GCSE results first time around without the need for resits.

"Clearly the old system downplayed Oxfordshire's status in relation to the rest of the country."

"This measure shows us in a much better light, demonstrating that our schools deliver better first time results than schools elsewhere."

Uni's £110m cancer centre could open in Headington by 2018

• A new £110m cancer centre will lead research into improved outcomes for patients

A £110MILLION cancer research centre could open in Headington in the next four years.

Oxford University want to open the Precision Cancer Medicine Institute at its Old Road campus or at the Churchill Hospital in 2017 or 2018.

The centre would work towards increasing cure rates and improving outcomes for cancer patients.

Patients at the Churchill will participate in research carried out at the institute.

Prof Gillies McKenna, head of the Department of Oncology at Oxford University, said the centre would design new drug treatments targeted at particular cancer tumours.

He continued: "Through the new institute we will aim to undertake research that will help doctors get the right treatment, to the right patient, at the right time."

Oxford University secured a £35m grant from the Higher Education Funding Council (Hefce) last Thursday, October 23, for the cancer centre.

And contributions from proposed partners including Cancer Research UK would make up the remaining £75m.

Significant investment will be put into the operation of a protein beam research facility, which uses high-energy radiation to destroy cancerous cells.

Prof Andrew Hamilton, vice-chancellor of Oxford University, said: "The Hefce award is tremendous news."

"It represents a very large investment in the future of cancer medicine."

"This research will show how advances in treatments can improve outcomes for cancer patients in Oxfordshire and around the world."

Sir Jonathan Michael, chief executive of Oxford University Hospitals, added: "This new centre is a fantastic opportunity for our patients and staff to take part in clinical trials of cutting edge treatments."

Plans for the centre will have to go on show to the public before they can be submitted to Oxford City Council.

Oxford University spokesperson Jonathan Wood said there was still "much to be done" before an application could be handed in.

He added: "This is an announcement of funding, not an announcement of a plan for a build."

Celebratory ale

OXFORD: A new beer has been launched for people to raise a pint and celebrate the 150th anniversary of Oxford Brookes University next year.

Named John Henry after the founding father of the university, the real ale was unveiled last Thursday, October 23.

The ale was brewed and hand bottled at The Shotover Brewery in Horspath by former student and now businessman Ed Murray.

Mr Murray says the beer is an Export India Pale Ale at 7.1 per cent and contains "massive amounts of hops and malt".

It was brewed to recreate a historic recipe reflecting beer in 1865.

The ale became available to buy last Friday at the Brookes Restaurant and the Colonnade store on the Gipsy Lane campus.

The 750ml bottles and 500ml are priced at £11 and £3.99.

Charity effort

OXFORD: The city's students raised £75,000 over the summer by donating their unwanted books, CDs, DVDs, games and other items.

The Moving Out campaign, which involves students from both Oxford University and Oxford Brookes University, encouraged young people put their unwanted goods into a recycling bank.

Between May and July, 42.95 tonnes of material was donated in Oxford.

A total of £75,166 was raised for The British Heart Foundation.

Mayor's Column

Scott Wilgrove

Mayor of Didcot

'Privilege' to be Didcot's mayor

I WOULD like to start this month by thanking everyone who attended Rock the Mayor on October 3.

It was a great night raising £700 for my charity, The Didcot Railway Centre.

Extra special thanks go to Lightspill and the Crimps, to all the local businesses who supported us by donating raffle prizes and wonderful Sue who organised the whole thing.

Now the summer break is over Penny and I have become very busy again attending lots of local events.

It really is a privilege to receive so many invitations and to see so much of what goes on in our town and to represent the council in the community.

Which brings me to the Didcot

Town Council Awards evening which will take place on Wednesday, November 5.

This year our special guests will be Dan Rivers and Ben Watson - who did so well at the Commonwealth Games.

I am really looking forward to meeting them.

The awards evening is also where the John Eldridge award for voluntary service is presented, and I will soon face the difficult task of choosing this year's recipient from the list of nominations.

So many organisations locally depend on volunteers to keep them going.

This is an ideal opportunity to publicly acknowledge their work and say thank you, so for me this is a very special evening in the council's calendar.

Puzzles

Sudoku

The objective is to fill a 9×9 grid with digits so that each column, each row, and each of the nine 3×3 sub-grids that compose the grid (also called "boxes", "blocks", "regions", or "sub-squares") contains all of the digits from 1 to 9. The puzzle setter provides a partially completed grid, which for a well-posed puzzle has a unique solution.

Are you ready for this?

BASED on one of the best British films of all time, the theatre production of the 1997 award winning movie, The Full Monty, will be dancing its way to the Oxford New Theatre next week.

Written by Simon Beaufoy, the story circulates around six middle-aged, unemployed men.

Four were made redundant from a local steel mill and to get some cash the friends decide to create their own male striptease dance routine.

By James Richings

jamesr@taylornewspapers.co.uk

Actor Rupert Hill, who plays Guy, told the Oxfordshire Guardian: "Once you agree to the job, you've kind of got to get over the whole naked thing."

"There's no skirting around it, you know you are going to be naked on stage."

"If we were supposed to be the Chippendales then it would be horrendous, but the whole point is these are six ordinary blokes who are doing this to earn a few bob."

"That's what's nice about being all different ages and sizes, they're all normal chaps out there and that's what we are."

The 36-year-old said: "I was told that if a job ticks two out of three boxes then it's worth doing - good script, good part and good director."

"The Full Monty ticks all three, so for me it was a really easy decision and it's turned out to be fantastic."

"It's a lovely company and everyone gets on really well, we're having a lot of fun together both on stage and off."

Despite the comic touch, the film won praise for bringing issues like unemployment, fathers' rights, homosexuality and depression out of the woodwork and onto the screen.

Hill said it is important to bring them up while humouring the audience.

"That's the great thing about Simon's (Beaufoy) script," he said.

"It tackles a lot of important issues but it's also a great night out for the audience."

"There's the pay off at the end of the show but you can really feel the audience rooting for you because they care about what the characters have been through to get to that point."

Hill added: "The audience do go really crazy when we go the full monty - it's such a brilliant way to end the show."

The eight shows over six days run from October 30 to November 6 and are suitable for over 12s.

Tickets cost £13.50 to £32.50.

• (Left to right) Actors Andrew Dunn, Louis Emerick, Gary Lucy, Rupert Hill and Bobby Schofield playing the main characters

Story of the Son of God

DESCRIBED as 'thrilling and thought-provoking', legendary actor Simon Callow is at Oxford Playhouse on Tuesday, November 4, starring in 'The Man Jesus'.

Written by Matthew Hurt, the one-man show sees Callow, play various characters including Pontius Pilate, Herod Antipas, Jesus' mother Mary, Jesus' brother James - but not the main man himself.

The characters talk about and talk to the Son of God, and through them the audience begins to get a picture of what Jesus was like.

"The play attempts to put Jesus into the real world, to enable us to see him as a living human being, which is fascinating," Callow said.

"And at least since the Middle Ages, people have been making plays about Jesus."

The 65-year-old has had a glistening career, appearing in many notable films such as children's classic 'James and the Giant Peach', and 'Four Weddings and a Funeral'.

By James Richings

jamesr@taylornewspapers.co.uk

But as the sole performer in the play - which is touring around the UK, Callow said he revels in the challenge.

"I enjoy the thrill of performing in a one-man show," he said.

"It's the most direct and the oldest way of telling stories, preceding books, plays, television or movies."

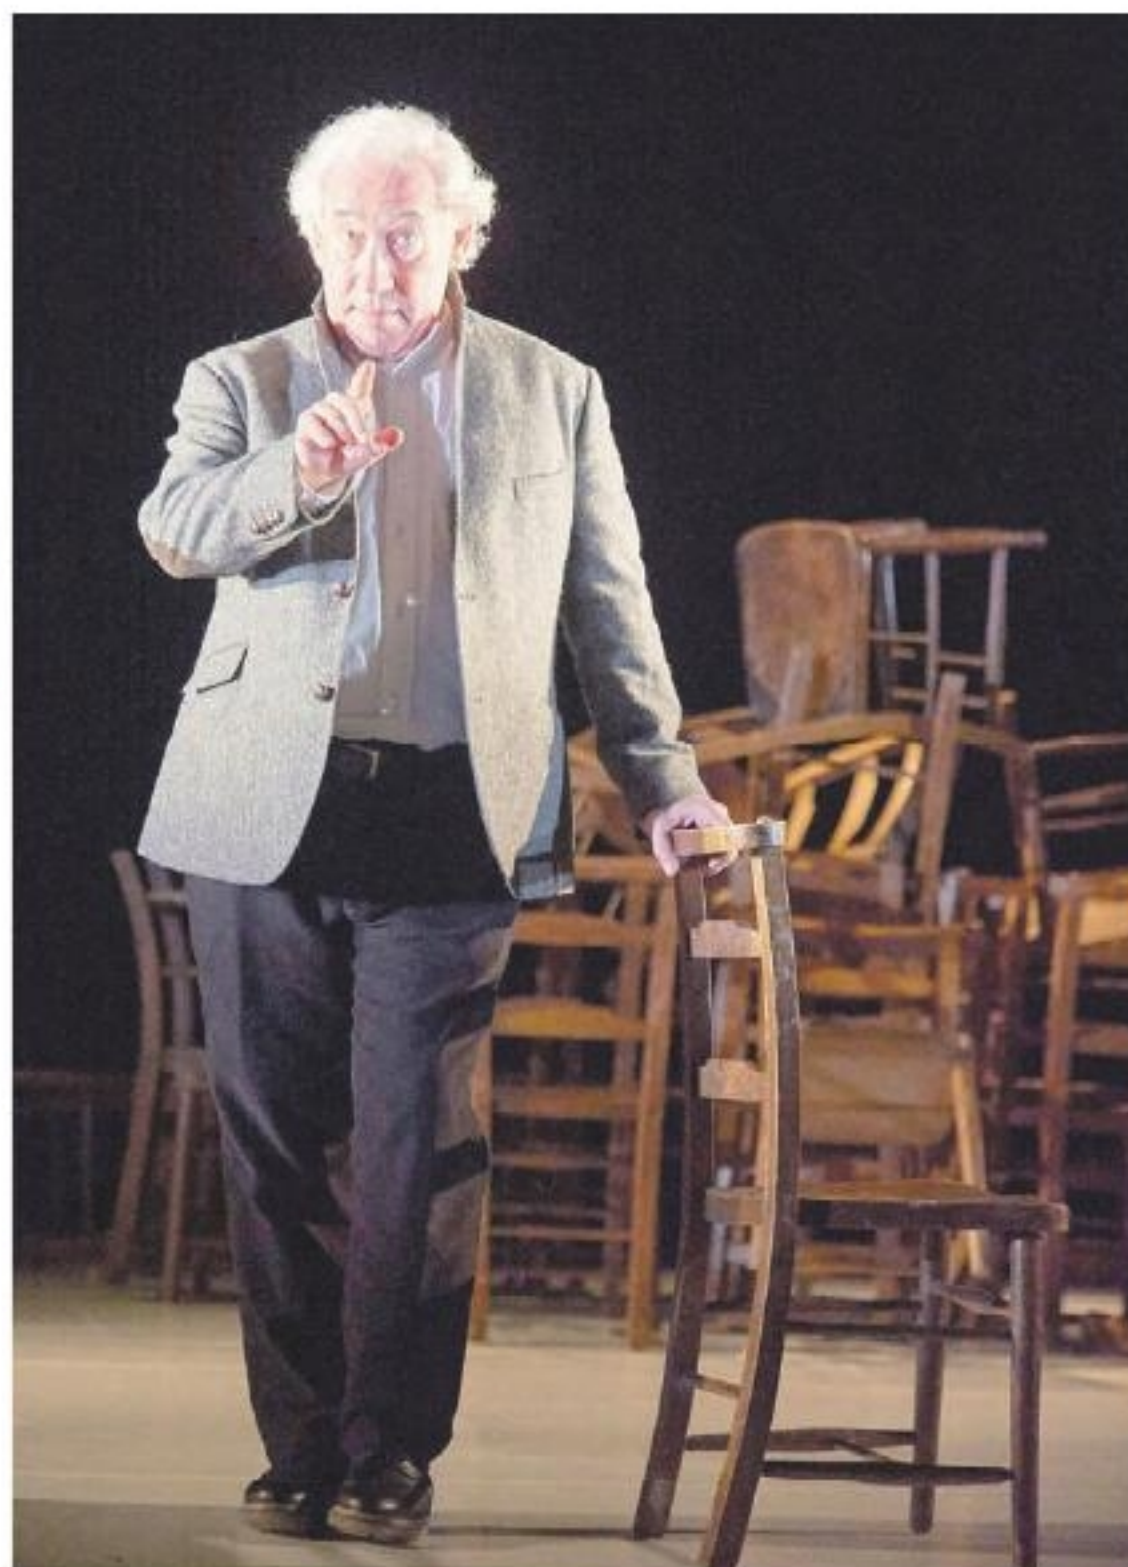

Callow added, "Stories bind audiences together, so that the energy in the auditorium rises massively as they experience the spell of the story."

"Is there any greater satisfaction than hearing a good story?"

"And this one, as the man said, is the greatest one ever told."

Tickets have now sold out but to get onto the Oxford Playhouse waiting list visit www.oxfordplayhouse.com or ring 01865 305 305.

New kid on the block

THIS year, Britain has seen new artists cropping up to achieve monumental success in the charts.

British musicians such as Clean Bandit, Rixton and Ella Henderson have all released debut singles which peaked at the top spot in the UK charts.

And another young musician wants a piece of that mainstream success.

Acoustic folk singer Sunjay Brayne is performing at the Wychwood Folk Club on Saturday, November 1.

The 21-year-old first picked up a guitar when he was just 4 years old.

He is currently on a 45-date tour around the UK, promoting his latest album, 'Sunjay', released last month.

"This will be my first time at Wychwood and I'm very excited to be performing there," Brayne said.

"I'll be performing a lot of material from my new CD and hopefully it will be an evening of entertainment and merriment."

In 2012, Brayne won the Wath Festival Young Performers Award, was a nominee at the BBC Radio 2 Young Folk Awards and a finalist at the New Roots Competition.

He added: "I'm touring extensively again next year and we're even booking gigs for 2016."

"I think it's actually country music that's on the rise."

"Dolly Parton said country music is popular as it tells real stories about real people."

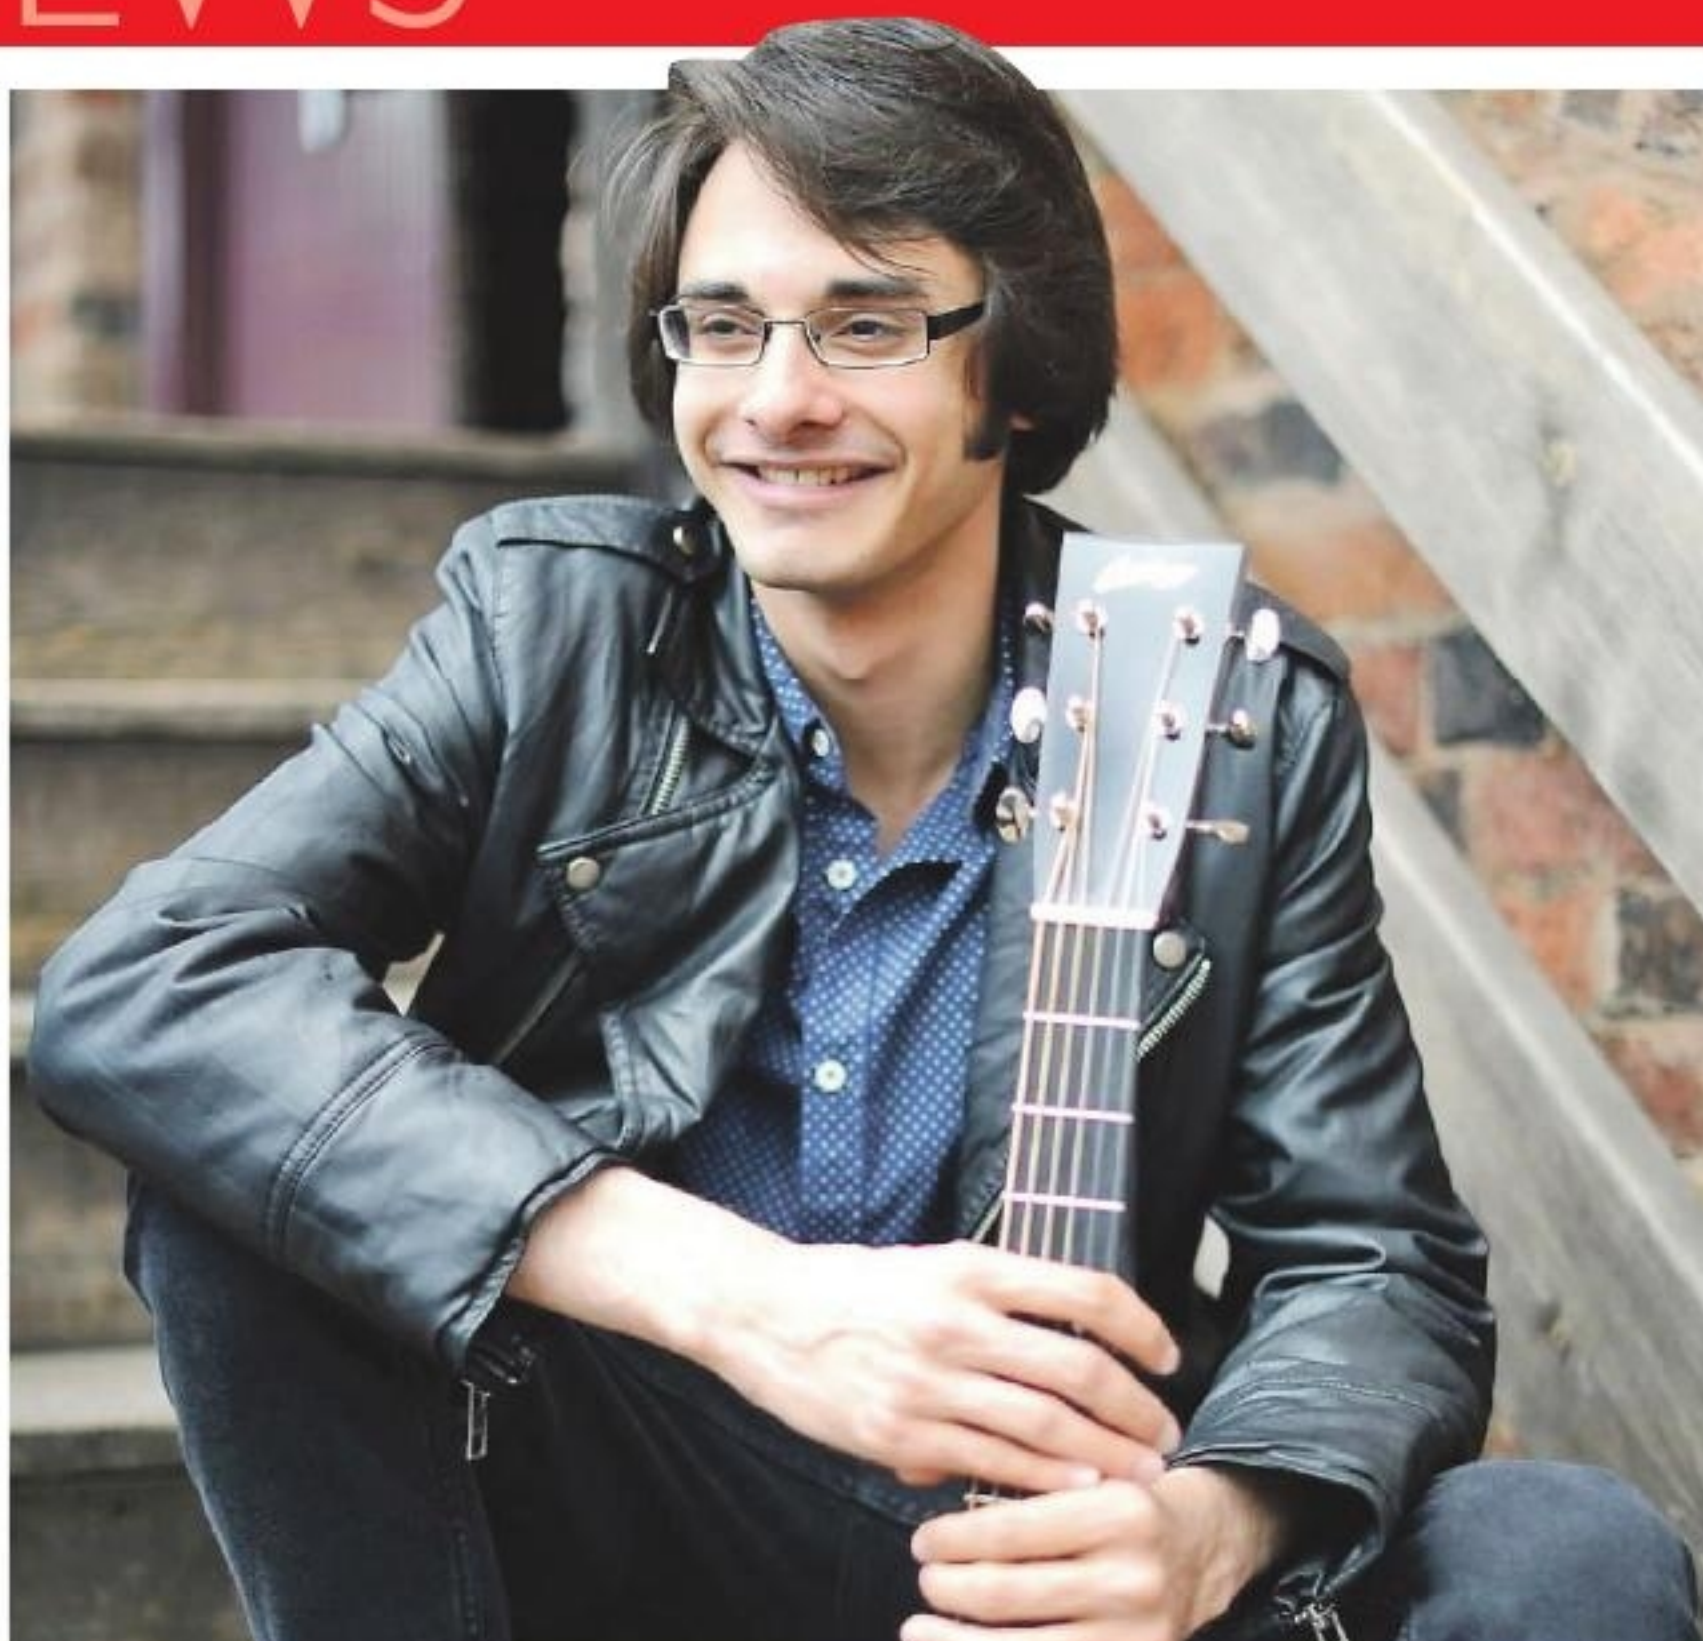

"People are going back towards real music because so much of the pop stuff sounds the same."

"You can tell it's been put together by computers and not by musicians."

A BEAUTIFUL DRIVEWAY LEADS TO A BEAUTIFUL HOME

The New Driveway Company is an independent, family-run driveway firm. We help homeowners to transform the identity of their properties by creating driveways that combine sympathetic, exceptional design with the highest quality of materials and workmanship. Our highly-skilled team of designers and craftsmen work in close partnership with you to create a driveway that compliments your home, enhancing its natural charm and adding immeasurable value to its kerb appeal. DRIVEWAY RENOVATION

We also provide a block driveway renovation service. If you have a driveway that's looking a little worse for wear, and you don't want to go the whole way and replace it, simply give us a call and we can come and restore it to its former glory.

We employ a simple three stage renovation process when restoring driveways - clean, sand and seal. The first stage is a straightforward cleaning of your driveway, removing any accumulated grime and rejuvenating the paving. After this, we sweep sand across your driveway to fill the grooves between the blocks, restoring the evenness and uniformity of your driveway. Finally, when renovating non-permeable driveways, we apply a waterproofing sealant, which aids and abets water runoff and drainage.

Client testimonial July 2014

Why not look in at the Look Out Discovery Centre this half term?

October half term is a fantastic time to visit The Look Out Discovery Centre!

Set in a beautiful forest to walk or cycle around, with a popular adventure play area, there is also the main attraction inside, which is the exhibition with over 90 hands-on science and nature activities.

There is a real variety of activities such as taking a picture of your shadow, making a mini animation, firing up a hydrogen rocket, building an unfinished house, playing in the toddler supermarket, launching the hot air balloon, creating circuits plus more!

The hands-on activities are mostly geared towards primary school and pre-school children. However, there is something for all ages.

Lasting until January 4 next year will be 'Starlab - a Portable Planetarium'.

There is a choice of two amazing journeys through space, subject to minimum numbers and an additional charge to the main admission fee.

'Space Stories' will take place every Saturday and Sunday from 11am, noon and 3.15pm, which is aimed for 3-7 year olds.

'Exploring the Solar System', will also take place every Saturday and Sunday until January 4 at 2pm. This is aimed for children over the age of 7.

It will cost £1.85 per child with under four's going for free.

There will also be a fun quiz about our solar system with a fantastic prize for one lucky winner, that our lovely visitors can enjoy.

In addition to the hands-on science and nature exhibition where there is lots to do for toddlers, we are putting on special activities just for toddlers!

Activities include art and craft; play dough, face or hand painting and story telling.

On toddler days, you can buy one drink and get another free to the same value, and it's also a great place to meet up with friends.

This will cost £6.65 per parent and toddler and an additional £1.50 for an extra child. (Prices valid until 31/3/15).

There will also be a coffee and gift shop on site, which is open from 10am-5pm.

Come and visit us as The Look Out Discovery Centre, Nine Mile Ride, Bracknell, Berkshire, RG12 7QW.

Alternatively, you can contact us on 01344 354400 or email us on thelookout@bracknell-forest.gov.uk.

You can also visit our website and Facebook pages on www.bracknell-forest.gov.uk/thelookoutdiscovery-centre and at www.facebook.com/thelookoutdiscovery.

The Look Out is closed from 24th-26th December and 12th-16th January 2015 for the annual maintenance and staff-training week.

It's Christmas...

It's the most wonderful time of the year!

Yes, I know it's only October but in a few weeks time, you'll be hearing those classic Christmas songs on the radio, the festive films will be on your TV and your family members will start to talk about presents they want to have.

The countdown to December 25 is on.

We might be seven weeks away from Christmas Day, which might see like a lifetime, however, days fly by and before you know it, it's the week before Christmas and nothing has been done.

One thing we can say is don't worry, as we are here to help.

We want everyone single one of you to enjoy Christmas this year, by getting the presents, decorations and food that is right for you.

At Christmas, you don't want to think about work, you want to spend quality time with the ones that you love and cherish the most, and we want you to achieve that.

So we spoke to a few businesses around the county, to see how they can put your Christmas dilemmas to rest.

It wouldn't be Christmas without Thomas at Didcot railway Centre!

NOW recognized as being one of the leading centers of its type, the Didcot Railway Centre first opened as a visitor attraction in 1967.

The Railway Centre recreates the golden age of the Great Western Railway with a fine collection of over 20 steam locomotives, many housed in the original engine shed, and a collection of passenger coaches and freight wagons.

December (along with the last weekend of November) at Didcot Railway Centre means one thing: A day out with Thomas to meet Father Christmas!

The centre is the only heritage railway in the UK to offer this unique combination, whereby, families get to ride behind the famous blue engine to meet Father Christmas in his grotto, with each child receiving an age appropriate gift from Father Christmas.

Visitors also get to meet the Fat Controller, Sir Topham Hatt, and take part in Thomas themed activities in the imagination station.

This is available every Saturday and Sunday from 29th November to 21st December, from 9:30am - 4:00pm.

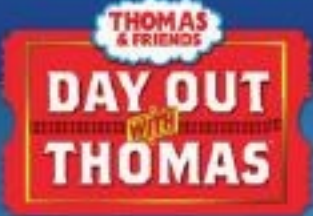

All the prices are available on our website www.didcotrailwaycentre.org.uk. Visitors can pay at the gate on the day, however, advance booking is recommended, at www.dayoutwiththomas.co.uk/didcot

Christmas design with A Touch of Pine

WITH Christmas just around the corner, it's a great time to start thinking about giving your furniture a face-lift in time for the festive season.

Treat your home to something special this December with a new dining room table and chairs, some new bedroom furniture for the guest room or a total overhaul for your living room.

Christmas is such a social time of year, with visitors galore throughout the holidays, you'll want your home to be looking tiptop from the time you put your tree up right into the new year.

Christmas just isn't the same if you can't get the whole family around the dining room table for dinner. It's one of the greatest joys of Christmas Day; it's better than the most lavish of gifts.

This is exactly why we have carefully selected a dining range that is sure to fit right into each and every home.

From a traditional rectangular pine table, to an oval extending oak dining room table, we are guaranteed to have a beautiful table for you no matter how many guests you need to squeeze round it.

Your guest room is bound to be busy during the crazy Christmas period as well – friends, parents, great-grandparents; there's always somebody who needs somewhere to lay their head after one too many sherries.

Sometimes the spare room gets overlooked in the decorating department so don't forget that our excellent bedroom range is ideal for guest bedrooms as well as master suites.

Our Chunky Pine range is great for guest rooms and we can provide complimenting furniture pieces to match. This extensive pine bedroom furniture range can be delivered to your door and can be made to measure, way before the big day gets here.

We love any excuse for a living room overhaul, so why not go all out this December and create a living room that your Christmas tree will look amazing in?

There's nothing better than the whole family rushing into the living room on Christmas morning with sleepy, happy faces tearing open presents and sharing Christmas hugs.

A new living room entertainment unit and matching coffee table is sure to look fantastic decked out with all your favourite Christmas decorations – you won't ever want to take them down.

The Henley Players and Henley Operatic Society

CHRISTMAS is always a glamorous occasion when The Henley Players and Henley Operatic Society get together! However, they do usually dress in a little more than tinsel! But this is the fun that both dramatic societies have when producing shows. This picture is from a recent production of Calendar Girls, staged by the Henley Players, which raised over £1000 for the Lymphoma Research Charity, the dreadful disease that was centre of the show's plot. However many of the ladies belong to both Societies and are always game for a laugh!

If you are looking for a worthwhile hobby, there is always something to do and lots of opportunity to get on stage. The Henley Players tend to produce plays, whilst the Operatic Society - you guessed it - produce musicals. So there is something for everyone. If you do not want to get on stage, but would still like to be involved, then there are a myriad of tasks such as costume, make up, props and stage hands, set building and so on - never a dull moment!

There is also a great deal of diversity in the productions that both societies mount at The Kenton Theatre in Henley. This Autumn sees the Players staging Accrington Pals - a tribute to the young men who died in WW1, whilst Henley Operatic are producing The Sound of Music - in fact, the two ladies in the front row are both playing nuns! - Now that is diverse!

Tickets for either of these productions are available from www.kentontheatre.co.uk. If you are interested in joining either of these societies, please contact the membership secretaries below: (And we promise you can keep your clothes on!)

The Henley Players: Jenny Haywood - jenifer.haywood@btinternet.co.uk

Accrington Pals runs from 15 - 18 October

The Sound of Music runs from 30 October - 8 November

ON November 22 and 23, Sobell House Hospice Charity will descend on the halls and corridors of the stunning Radley College as they hold their annual Sobell Christmas Gift Fair.

There will be over 65 stalls offering a huge variety of items from children's books, toys, home ware, clothing, jewellery, food, drink, to accessories and arts and crafts.

There shall be something for everyone trying to find the perfect Christmas gift, or even a treat for themselves. Many of the items are unique or individually crafted and can't be found in the shops.

Refreshments are available for anyone wanting to take a break from shopping in the beautiful college refectory. There will be a selection of drinks, sandwiches, and some very delicious cakes to indulge in.

All of the proceeds will go to help Sobell House Hospice continue to offer care and support to those people throughout Oxfordshire, affected by terminal illness and their families.

The care at Sobell House is intended to be holistic, catering not only for medical needs, but also providing help with emotional and practical needs.

Services include a day centre, in-patient unit and also teams of nurses who support patients in their homes, and on hospital wards.

Various therapies are also available such as complementary therapies, art and music therapy.

Many patients have cancer, but others suffer from chronic conditions such as motor neurone disease, heart problems or respiratory problems. They don't need sophisticated high-tech equipment, but they do need a great deal of specialist care to enable them to live the rest of their lives as fully as possible.

We are also committed to helping the families of our patients by providing emotional and practical support throughout the period of illness and during bereavement.

Please come along and support this wonderful Christmas event and in turn, help your local hospice.

Oxford Outdoor Markets

OXFORD'S popular Gloucester Green outdoor markets, which are held every Wednesday and Thursday, will now be extended to include Saturdays from November 8.

The Saturday market will see the familiar bright yellow and blue stalls housing a new eclectic mix of traders offering a wide range of locally produced and international foods. This will include street food from around the world served around a seating area with music provided by local buskers and visiting guests.

Exotic fruit, vegetables, fish, cheese, olives, locally baked artisan bread stalls and much more will be in the city square every Saturday, providing quality and atmosphere for weekend shoppers.

A large section of vintage, antique, and craft collectibles will also be on offer.

Councillor Bob Price, Leader of Oxford City Council, said: "The open market in Gloucester Green is a long standing and popular part of the city's shopping offer, and has been attracting more and more people under the new management company.

"The successful growth in trade over the past few months has encouraged them to launch this extra market day.

"It is good news for the traders and the many customers of Gloucester Green markets and we hope that it will bring in more shoppers and visitors to the city at the weekend."

Dermot McGillicuddy, spokesperson for the City Council's market operators LSD Promotions Ltd and Geraud (UK) Ltd, said: "We are very excited about the new day for Oxford; the public demand to provide another outdoor market day has been overwhelming.

"Now with three days outside and seven days in the covered market, the city really has a very interesting and varied market offer for local people and visitors to Oxford."

Sally Thomas, one of the directors of the Chilterns Residents' Association located in Gloucester Green, said: "We're very pleased that there is going to be another market with a slightly different flavour.

"Not only will it offer a section of antiques, crafts and vintage collectibles, but also a busking circle in the middle of the market, and I think that will be great for the weekend shoppers.

"It is worth pointing out that it's the only community square in the centre of Oxford and we hope that the Saturday market will attract more people to visit."

Success for Ford's vans

BACK in 1965 Ford introduced their first Transit van to the world.

Described as a type of commercial vehicle, the transit was designed to help workmen and builders carry their equipment all over the country in an efficient way, to get their jobs done.

And in the last 49 years, Ford has seen sales of over seven million units worldwide.

So it is no surprise that figures released by the Society of Motor Manufacturers and Traders (SMMT) show a total of 13,959 vehicles have been sold under the Ford Transit range in September this year alone.

The figures come just months after Ford's newest Transit range was launched in spring 2014.

They include the Transit, Transit Custom, Transit Connect and Transit Courier.

September's success placed the Ford Transit family in second place in the UK total vehicle sales, behind the Ford Focus.

The Ford Transit Custom alone sold 7,177 units, putting the vehicle in 10th place in UK total vehicle sales.

Mark Ovenden, Ford of Britain chairman and managing director, said: "In the high volume September sales

REVIEW: Ford Transit

By James Richings

month, Ford beat the overall UK market volume increase and maintained its strong sales momentum to secure record sales.

"Our extended Ford Transit family, which now has full availability since the arrival of the Ford Transit Courier in July, is selling at record levels."

Sales figures for the Ford Transit and Ford Transit Custom combined, made it the fifth best-selling nameplate in the UK in September, after the Ford Fiesta and the Ford Focus, who took the top two places.

This year to date, Ford has sold 65,378 commercial vehicles for a 23.8 per cent overall market share - in comparison to 55,589 units for a 22.8 per cent market share.

Ford commercial vehicle sales were further boosted, due to the new "64" registration month by the full availability of Ford's extended CV range.

The Transits' predecessor was the Ford Thames 400E, a small van that only managed to produce 187,000 units between 1957 and 1965.

We must keep learning, says Exiles boss Burnell

HEAD coach Justin Burnell says London Welsh have to keep learning after they were beaten 52-20 by Bordeaux Begles in the European Rugby Challenge Cup.

The French Top 14 side ran in seven tries at the Kassam Stadium last Thursday to inflict an eighth consecutive defeat on the Exiles.

Welsh are bottom of pool four after two games and also at the foot of the Aviva Premiership, without a win this season.

By Jack Johnson

jack@taylornewspapers.co.uk

Burnell was enthused by the Exiles' endeavour and possession in the opposition 22 but errors once again proved crucial.

He said: "We've just got to keep learning."

"We've got to give the competition the respect it deserves and we can't get away from the fact that we've got to go out there."

"It's a big eye opener."

Burnell added: "What can we learn from that?"

"Keep hold of the ball, that's the biggest thing."

"There were three tries from our attacking zone. We spill the ball and two or three passes to pace, and pace to burn."

Welsh started the brighter and Olly Barkley kicked the Exiles into a 3-0 lead but Bordeaux soon found their rhythm and Lucas Blanc raced over for the first try, converted by Pierre Bernard.

Barkley and Bernard traded penalties before Seb Jewell's grubber was turned into a counter attack and Metuisela Tlebulamajaina went onto score a brilliant individual try.

Clement Maynadier and Matthew Clarkin added to the misery by scoring Bordeaux's third and fourth tries.

The Exiles needed a big second half performance and Jewell went over early on but it was not to be a catalyst for a comeback as Bernard ghosted through before Darly Domvo added try number six.

Daniel Browne forced his way over the whitewash for Welsh but there was still time for Bordeaux's seventh try as Domvo went over again.

Burnell added: "There is no margin in the Top 14 or Aviva Premiership."

"Once you make an error, you're on toast."

Welsh continue their search for a win on Saturday when they face Bath in the LV= Cup.

Rowley hungry for more after Exiles debut

SCRUM-HALF Paul Rowley is looking to push on after his first competitive start for London Welsh against Bordeaux Begles last Thursday.

Rowley featured as a sub in the defeat at Lyon four days earlier but was given the nod by Justin Burnell to start the Exiles' second European Rugby Challenge Cup pool game at the Kassam Stadium.

The Exiles went down to a 52-20 defeat to Bordeaux and the loss rather dampened Rowley's debut spirits.

He said: "It was a good experience to get out there and play, but the result didn't go our way and that's the main thing."

"And Lyon last week - a big crowd and great atmosphere - they're the kind of games you want to play in."

"You don't want to be just training for the sake of training - you want those big occasions."

"Bordeaux at home is the kind of game you work hard for."

Despite an eighth consecutive defeat, the 26-year-old is confident that Welsh will soon break their duck.

He said: "It's just errors and getting back that winning culture that the club had."

10-man City beaten at home

OXFORD City suffered a third successive defeat in the Vanarama Conference North last Saturday in a 3-0 loss at home to Hednesford Town.

Justin Merritt's side have slipped to fifth in the league table as a result of the poor run which has seen City concede nine goals in three games.

Last weekend's defeat at Marsh Lane came as a result of Hednesford taking advantage of having an extra man after Declan Benjamin was sent off.

Up until the break, City had been in control but Benjamin's two-footed challenge on Steve Diggin saw the right-back shown a straight red.

Almost instantly City began to swim against the tide and Richard Batchelor headed Hednesford into the lead just before half-time.

The visitors continued to exploit the gaps opened up by Benjamin's dismissal and Glenn Walker netted Hednesford's second.

City's miserable afternoon was complete when Batchelor headed past Ben Abbey for his second of the match.

Merritt's side will look to end their current winless run when they make the trip to Yorkshire to face North Ferriby United this Saturday from 3pm.

PREMIERSHIP RUGBY IN OXFORD - BE PART OF IT

Oxford United beaten by last minute strike

Harlequins beat Old Pats in thriller

OXFORD Harlequins edged Old Patesians 25-23 in a thrilling National League 3 South West encounter last Saturday.

The win ended a four-match winless run for Quins, lifting them up to 8th in the table.

Jack Robinson went over in the sixth minute to give Quins the lead and despite a George Hughes penalty for the hosts, Will Sharatt added a second. Robinson converted Sharatt's try but Old Patesians hit back with Lee Hathaway going over and Hughes kicking the afters.

However, Quins went in 20-10 up at the break as Robinson kicked a penalty and Mike Lee forced his way over the whitewash.

Keni Fisilau danced his way through the defence to add a fourth try on 55 minutes before a Hughes penalty and a try from Dan Burrows made the scoreline 25-20.

Hughes kicked another penalty to set up a nail-biting finale but Quins defended well to hold on to the bonus point win.

They are next in action on Saturday and welcome Old Redcliffians to North Hinksey Lane.

Ingram on the money in Ardley win

LUKE Ingram's brace helped Ardley United to an emphatic 4-0 win over league leaders Highmoor Ibis in the Hellenic Premier Division on Tuesday.

The win lifted United up to seventh in the table and backed up their 3-0 win over Newbury last Saturday.

Ingram has now scored seven goals in as many appearances, while Joe Eyre and Ricky Johnson also netted in the victory over Highmoor.

Ardley will look to continue their recent good form when they face Chippenham Park in the first round of the FA Vase on Saturday.

Elsewhere, Kidlington remained third in the table after a 1-1 draw at Brimscombe & Thrupp on Tuesday and a 4-2 win over Shrivenham last Saturday.

Thame United beat local rivals Milton United 3-1 during midweek, while last Saturday they edged Highworth Town 3-2 at the ASM Stadium.

Milton were also in action last Saturday but were narrowly beaten 2-1 at Wootton Bassett Town.

MICHAEL Appleton says Oxford United need to improve at the top of the pitch after a last-gasp goal denied them a point in a 2-1 defeat at Carlisle United last Saturday.

Derek Asamoah's 89th minute winner ended United's two-game winning run in Sky Bet League Two, leaving them 19th.

United had been looking to make it three wins in a row and end a great week after victories over Tranmere Rovers and Northampton Town.

And Oxford were good value

By Jack Johnson

jack@taylornewspapers.co.uk

for their lead as Danny Hylton netted his ninth league goal on the stroke of half-time.

However, Carlisle performed an unlikely comeback with Mark Beck heading the sides level on 73 minutes before Asamoah grabbed the winner.

Appleton said United should have killed the game off in the first half after they were left to rue several opportunities.

He said: "The players are in a good frame of mind and I felt we missed an opportunity in the first half to really kill them off.

"I was delighted to go in 1-0 up, it was a great time to score a goal, but there was a really good opportunity for us to score three or four goals in that first half.

"Our final pass and decision was really poor and it cost us in the end.

"We need to be better in certain areas of the field and certainly in the attacking areas."

United's fans made up 362 of the 4,329 crowd and Appleton hopes they will come out in force this Saturday at home to second-placed Wycombe Wanderers.

He added: "I am sure we will be able to reward them at some point throughout the season on a couple of other away trips.

"If they can turn up on Saturday it will be a banging atmosphere against a side that are riding high."

The draw for the first round of the FA Cup was made on Monday night and United have been handed an away tie at Vanarama Conference club Grimsby Town on November 8.

Buoyant Smith continues form

OXFORD'S Bradley Smith left Singapore in high spirits after finishing fifth at the Malaysian Grand Prix last Sunday.

With one round remaining, Smith is seventh in the rider standings and only seven points behind teammate Pol Espargaro, who is sixth.

Smith qualified ninth and after developing a good rhythm found himself comfortably in sixth.

Cal Crutchlow's retirement from the race saw Smith move up to fifth and despite a valiant effort to overtake Stefan Bradl on the last lap, he was forced to settle for 11 points.

And Smith was pleased with the result after describing the race weekend as "tough and tricky".

He added: "The team did a great job and the fifth goes well with the podium from last week, to mark a positive flyaway period for me.

"It would have been good to get Stefan for the extra two points to aid our championship standing ambitions, but I gave it my absolute all and didn't have anything left."

The last round is in Valencia, Spain, on November 9.

Hawks cruise to 4-2 victory

OXFORD Hawks put four past Spencer Men's 1s last Saturday to move up to fourth in the Premier Division 1.

George Creed, Kit Cutter, Dan Rhodes and Ethan Chapman all netted for Hawks in the 4-2 win at Banbury Road North, extending their unbeaten run to two games.

Hawks are next in action on Saturday when they make the trip to eighth-placed Staines Men's 1s.

Stars suffer double defeat

OXFORD City Stars suffered another winless weekend in the National Ice Hockey League South 1 with defeats to Chelmsford Chieftains and Streatham Redskins.

The 7-3 and 8-5 losses leave Stars at the foot of the table with just one win from 10 games so far this season.

Stars will look to end their current seven-match winless run when they face Bracknell Hornets in a double header this weekend.

United women beaten in finale

LATE goals from Maddy Cusack and Maisie Baker saw Oxford United end their maiden Women's Super League 2 season with a 2-0 defeat at home to Aston Villa.

Les Taylor's side finished ninth in the table with 12 points, four above bottom side London Bees.

Sunderland were crowned league champions after edging Doncaster Rovers Belles by two points.

Williams drivers confident of strong result

VALTTERI Bottas will be hoping to build upon his podium finish at the last race in Russia as Formula One heads west for the United States Grand Prix in Texas on Sunday.

The Finn scored his first points at the Austin circuit last year, finishing eighth to record Williams' best result of the season.

And Bottas is hoping for another podium this weekend as Williams continue their effort to finish ahead of Ferrari in the constructors' championship.

"Austin is a really cool track, one of the best on the calendar," said Bottas.

"We are definitely targeting to be on the podium again and extend the advantage we have on Ferrari in the constructors' points, so it should be fun."

His team-mate Felipe Massa is also looking forward to going to America after a tough race in Russia that saw him finish outside the points in 11th place.

He said: "The track in Austin is great as there is a real mix of high and low speed corners with some very technical areas."

Abingdon appoint former Wantage Town manager

ACKLING NAMED AS NEW U'S BOSS

GARY Ackling says Abingdon United "ticked all the boxes" after he was announced as the club's new manager on Sunday.

The former Wantage Town boss took charge for the first time against Shrivenham last night after being named as Andy Zoldan's successor.

Ackling said returning to the Hellenic Premier Division was not his first choice but he was encouraged by United's ambition to return to the Southern League.

He added: "They want to get back into the Southern League in three to four years, that was the clincher for me."

"If they had said to me 'no, we don't want to go back into the Southern League and we're happy to be a good Hellenic league club' then I would not have gone."

"Abingdon will hopefully in a few years time be in a position to regain their status."

"We just see them as a club

By Jack Johnson

jack@taylornewspapers.co.uk

with a good infrastructure, that is sorting out the financial side of things and has good facilities so it just ticks all the boxes."

Ackling brings coaches Andy Lyne and Rob Wytchard with him to The Northcourt.

The trio led Wantage to the Hellenic Premier Division title last season but Ackling resigned from the Division One South & West club on October 18 after Freds chairman Tony Woodward stepped down.

United, who are 18th in the Hellenic Premier Division, had been without a manager since Zoldan resigned on October 14.

And chairman Debbie Blackmore said she hopes Ackling and his management team can replicate their success at The Northcourt.

She added: "They are a proven team together so we are hoping within the next three to four years they will do exactly the same with us and get us back up, that would be nice."

"We are hoping they can build on the existing team and add to it and get us back to where we should be which is towards the top of the table."

Ackling has already signed midfielder Tom Melledew from former club Wantage.

He continued: "Looking at the squad it is not bad but, as with any new manager, we will see how it works."

"There will be players coming in and players going but everyone will have a fair crack of the whip and if they want to stay then they will be given an opportunity."

Mrs Blackmore confirmed coaches Andy Wallbridge and Ellis Langford left the club upon Ackling's appointment.

She added: "We have all parted on good terms and I thank them for doing what they have done after Andy stepped down."
